Land and Water Management for Ecological Restoration and Agricultural Sustainability

October 13-15, 2025

VENUE:

Punjab Agricultural University, Ludhiana, Punjab

Organized by

SOIL CONSERVATION SOCIETY OF INDIA (Punjab Chapter)

and

PUNJAB AGRICULTURAL UNIVERSITY, Ludhiana

Sponsored and supported by

जल शक्ति मंत्रालय
MINISTRY OF
JAL SHAKTI

ABOUT THE SOCIETY

The Soil Conservation Society of India was registered in 1952-53 under the Societies Registration Act of 1860. The Society's mandate is the welfare of farmers and the rural people whose livelihoods are associated with managing natural resources. It works to conserve, develop, manage, and sustain the use of soil, water, land, and associated resources of plants and animals. The society has more than 3400 members including researchers, teachers, academicians, students and farmers. The society has its State Chapter in different states of India and also publishes its quarterly Journal of Soil and Water Conservation. The society organises National Conference annually and International Conference once in four years.

ABOUT THE HOST UNIVERSITY AND CONFERENCE VENUE

The conference will be held at Punjab Agricultural University (PAU) which is established in 1962 in Ludhiana, Punjab, and one of India's leading institutions in agricultural education, research, and extension. Renowned for its pivotal role in India's Green Revolution, PAU continues to drive innovation in Agriculture and Allied sciences. It was ranked 1st among agricultural universities in 2023 and 2024, and 3rd in the Agriculture and Allied Sectors category by the National Institutional Ranking Framework (NIRF). The university spans 494 hectares at its main campus, with an additional 1793 hectares at off-campus locations. It comprises six constituent colleges and two pre-graduation institutes, offering 11 undergraduate, 43 Master's, and 29 Ph.D. programmes across diverse disciplines. Ludhiana is well-connected by road and rail. While it has limited air service (one flight to Hindon Airport near Delhi), major airports at Chandigarh (90 km) and Amritsar (120 km) offer broader connectivity for Ludhiana. The weather in mid-October is mild to warm, with temperatures ranging between 16.8°C and 31.8°C.

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

Land and water management generally refers to the strategic planning, development and management of soil and water resources on sustainable basis. Nearly 80% of the terrestrial area is impacted by water erosion, and diverse degradation processes have damaged around 52% of the world's total productive land. Furthermore, with an average rate of 30 t/ha/year soil loss, soil erosion renders 10 mha of cropland unusable each year worldwide. Furthermore, the amount of water required for irrigation would rise by roughly 40% worldwide due to climate change. Land and water management not only enhances agricultural productivity but also supports ecological restoration when managed and implemented properly. Innovative, cutting edge and digital technologies viz remote sensing, GIS-based mapping, Internet of Things (IoT), sensors, artificial intelligence, drones and blockchain offer transformative solutions for sustainable land and water resource management. Land and water management is a vital and timely topic for ecological restoration and agricultural sustainability, particularly in the context of climate change, land degradation and increasing demands on agricultural systems. Sustainable agriculture and the preservation of the natural ecosystem depend on the holistic management of soil and water resources. To prepare the roadmap for soil, water, and energy management for sustainable agriculture and livelihood security, a national conference is being organized with the help of academicians, researchers, government departments, policymakers, farmers, industries, and other stakeholders.
